

Nick serves as a borough councillor and until recently was council leader. For several years Nick also headed the portfolio for economic development. He continues to work as a business adviser working with local businesses to assist in governance and growth .

He is involved with several local organisations including Festival Too and is England's representative to the European Hanse League, an association of European Towns and Cities who cooperate culturally and work together to develop business relationships.